

Action Recognition Example Question

What is the main technique for assessing the similarity of two video frames?

The optical flow measured at the 2 individual frames is compared. The similarity score is computed by combining the frame's positive and negative U and V optical flow components at each pixel in the bounding box.