

Persistent Behaviour Example Question

In the results slide (4) we can see target 4 seems to change into target 6. What is a possible explanation for this?

The trajectory is broken up a lot, suggesting possible occlusions or highly textured backgrounds. The person might have moved into the shade or have a lot of different reflected light illuminating them, in which case the colour of their clothing might not match that observed in a previous segment.