Eigenface Question

What are the correspondences used for the eigenface method? What assumption is required to ensure that the correspondences are valid?

It assumes that the images are perfectly aligned so that the pixels map to corresponding points on people's faces. This means that the systematic variations are in face illumination, not face shape.