Curve Splitting Question

Which point are we looking for when executing the curve segmentation algorithm? What do we do at this point?

The point that is the furthest from the straight line connecting the endpoints of the set of points. If the distance to the line is large enough, we call this a corner point and split the set at this point.