

Adaptive Background Question

What is the main benefit of using chromaticity coordinates?

The recorded rgb values are independent of the brightness of the scene, because the components are normalised by the average lightness of the pixel (i.e. $r = R / (R+G+B)$).