

Visual Attention Problem

What are some features of an image that can attract a human's or robot's attention?

ANSWER:

Features that have a difference in colour, contrast, size, orientation or motion can immediately attract our attention.