Structure from Motion Problem

What is the key property of an observed moving rigid object that allows reconstruction of its 3D shape?