

Matlab and Pixel Values Problem

What factors cause the broad low peak in the histogram?

ANSWER:

The broad low peak is due to the background (brighter values), which can be seen to have variations in illumination (light and dark patches), shadows at the edges of the objects and 'noise' stripes due to the digitiser amplifying an initially dark image. These all contribute to having some pixels at many intensity values.